UP Anthropology @100: International Conference Marking the Centennial of Philippine Anthropology

UP National Institute for Science and Mathematics Education Development (NISMED)
8 a.m.

The Conference marks the culmination of the 3-year celebration of the UP Department of Anthropology of its 100 years of existence beginning in 1914 when general anthropology was taught at UP. In 1917, one of the earliest departments of anthropology in Asia was established in the country with Professor Henry Otley Beyer as the founding Chair.

Although special attention is given to the institutional memory of the UP Department of Anthropology, the conference also brings together the various narratives of anthropological institutions in the country and presents different researches on the Philippines. The Conference celebrates, documents and interprets the legacy of Philippine anthropology cutting across geographies, academic traditions, personalities and historical periods.

For inquiries and registration details, please call the Conference secretariat at 981-8500 loc. 2114 or email anthro100@up.edu.ph. You may also visit the Conference website at anthro100conf.up.edu.ph.

The Rohingya Conundrum: Its Significance for International Studies

Seminar Room, UP Asian Center
2-4 p.m.

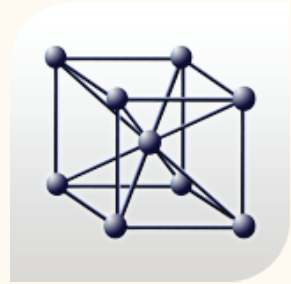

This lecture will focus on three fundamental issues: the Rohingya conundrum, possible solutions and its implications in international studies.

The conflict between Rohingya, a Muslim minority in Rakhine state in western Myanmar (Burma), and the Rakhine Buddhists has been an international concern since 2012 when violence first erupted in recent years.

The protracted violence is a threat not only to Myanmar's internal peace and stability but also for the country's relations with the international community, particularly its immediate neighbor Bangladesh and the Muslim-majority countries in Southeast Asia, such as Malaysia and Indonesia, that have expressed concerns over the Rohingyas' treatment in the past.

The lecture is free and open to the public. Seating is on a first-come, first-served basis. Participants are encouraged to sign up thru https://docs.google.com/forms/d/e/1FAIpQLSe1a63-vQH2FI4TO3fq6p\_CTI5a6r9r66e0FgT\_cXmODTgFNQ/viewform.

ASEANNale 2017:

1st Film and Multimedia Competition and Exhibition

2nd International Symposium on ASEAN Studies

UP Asian Center

The competition encourages ASEAN higher education students to produce creative works in film and multimedia that are the narratives of their culture and personal experiences.

The competition also gives honor to filmmakers and multimedia producers whose creative storytelling explores a range of human experiences that echoes the festival's theme "Capturing the spirit of ASEAN in the Digital Times." There are three sub-themes for the film and multimedia competition – Diaspora, Democracy and Disaster.

The project is co-organized by the Commission on Higher Education, UP, UP Open University, UP Film Institute, TVUP, OUS and the UP Asian Center.
