Project Title: Chinese Economic Success in the Pre-Hispanic and Hispanic Philippines: Scholarly Publication and Further Research

Project Proponent: Tina Saavedra Clemente

Designation of Proponent: Assistant Professor 4

Department and College of Proponent: Asian Center

Project Abstract:

The proponent’s dissertation entitled “Chinese Economic Success in the Pre-Hispanic and Hispanic Periods,” consists of five major parts that shall be improved in line with the aims, scope, and requirements of the journals being targeted for publication purposes. Also, the grant will enable the proponent to conduct further research, resulting in a book. Further research includes the exploration and survey of documentary evidence and related documents and literature pertinent to the essays in dissertation. This requires extensive work in libraries, research centers and archives as well as language study and collaborations with scholars in the Philippines and abroad. Hence, the grant will help the proponent in establishing herself in the study of economic history and institutions as applied to the larger picture of Philippine and Asian studies. In addition, the application of economic history and institutional analysis on Philippine and Asian studies shall allow the proponent to begin pioneering work, allowing the proponent to establish herself in research.
